Biographical/Historical note

In 1969, the history faculty of Haverford College created a seminar for its student history majors requiring significant papers concerned with historical evidence and based on documents in Haverford's manuscript collections. The papers are described here under the course number: History 361. From 1970-1992, the papers are arranged by the call number of the document (e.g. collection #720). From 1993 on, the papers are arranged alphabetically by the student's last name. Over time, some of the documents were selected from Bryn Mawr College's manuscript collections and this is indicated as appropriate. In 1991, photographs from Haverford's collections were used as artifacts. The papers resulting from their documentation have been added as an exception to the above. (Note: no papers from 1991 can be found) A decision was made in 1990 that only those papers considered by the department as worthy of future reference would be preserved here.

Over the years some papers have been misplaced or perhaps were never even received. At one time they probably did exist though, as former inventories have listed them. Currently only those papers that are available are listed here. Those papers that are missing have been included in their respective "missing documents/ photo documents" lists. These lists are included here.

Papers resulting from other coursework within the history department which faculty also deemed worthy for research purposes are also here, but housed separately from the 361 papers. Thus, here are papers from History 240, History of Quakerism (1991, 1999); papers from History 347a, Quakers in Asia (1989); and one paper from History 347b, Gentry, Peasant and Family in later Imperial China (1989). (Note: There is also 1 paper for 340a, spring 1990, filed in Box 1989-1).

For specific information on topics and authors, please see inventory.

General note

Each paper in this collection has been listed, along with the document title on which it is based. This Finding Aid will use the following standard description: collection number of the document, document author name or subject of photograph, year document was written, student author name. For example, the first paper of 1975 reads: 115 [collection number]; Robert Burns, December 7, 1786 [document name, date written]; Debbie Bernstein [student author name].

There is a selection of papers with "Missing" written next to it. These papers were previously listed in the inventory as above, but as they cannot presently be found, they have been removed from the updated lists. They are recorded here for accuracy of the listing.

General note

Each paper in this collection has been described with the document on which it was written. This Finding Aid uses a description similar to the paper counterpart on which it is based, viz. "collection number, document or subject of photograph, year document was written, student author name". For example, the first paper of 1975 reads: 115 [collection number] Robert Burns, December 7, 1786 [document name, date written]; Debbie Bernstein [student author name].

There is a selection of papers with "Missing" written next to it. These papers were previously listed in the inventory as above, but as they cannot presently be found, they have been removed from the updated lists. They are recorded here for accuracy of the listing.

History 361 - 1985 1985

General note

Each paper in this collection has been described with the document on which it was written. This Finding Aid uses a description similar to the paper counterpart on which it is based, viz. "collection number, document or subject of photograph, year document was written, student author name". For example, the first paper of 1975 reads: 115 [collection number] Robert Burns, December 7, 1786 [document name, date written]; Debbie Bernstein [student author name].

There is a selection of papers with "Missing" written next to it. These papers were previously listed in the inventory as above, but as they cannot presently be found, they have been removed from the updated lists. They are recorded here for accuracy of the listing.

General note

Each paper in this collection has been described with the document on which it was written. This Finding Aid uses a description similar to the paper counterpart on which it is based, viz. "collection number, document or subject of photograph, year document was written, student author name". For example, the first paper of 1975 reads: 115 [collection number] Robert Burns, December 7, 1786 [document name, date written]; Debbie Bernstein [student author name].

There is a selection of papers with "Missing" written next to it. These papers were previously listed in the inventory as above, but as they cannot presently be found, they have been removed from the updated lists. They are recorded here for accuracy of the listing.

General note

Each paper in this collection has been described with the document on which it was written. This Finding Aid uses a description similar to the paper counterpart on which it is based, viz. "collection number, document or subject of photograph, year document was written, student author name". For example, the first paper of 1975 reads: 115 [collection number] Robert Burns, December 7, 1786 [document name, date written]; Debbie Bernstein [student author name].

There is a selection of papers with "Missing" written next to it. These papers were previously listed in the inventory as above, but as they cannot presently be found, they have been removed from the updated lists. They are recorded here for accuracy of the listing.

History 361 - 1997

first paper of 1975 reads: 115 [collection number] Robert Burns, December 7, 1786 [document name, date written]; Debbie Bernstein [student author name].

There is a selection of papers with "Missing" written next to it. These papers were previously listed in the inventory as above, but as they cannot presently be found, they have been removed from the updated lists. They are recorded here for accuracy of the listing.
