Abstract	This collection spans approximately 200 years, from the late 1700s to the late 1900s, and five generations of the Morris-Shinn-Maier family, which are traced through matrilineal and patrilineal lines. They were prominent Quaker businessmen and lawyers in the Philadelphia area, and a large portion of the collection is dedicated to their legal and business material, as well as a great deal of very detailed financial material. There is also a quantity of personal material, namely diaries and correspondence, and material from philanthropic work done by later generations. Principal individuals include Paul David Irwin Maier, William Morris Maier, Anna Shinn Maier, Levi Morris and Naomi McClenachan Morris.

History of the Harriton Estate: Rowland Ellis (1650-1731) was born in Dolgellu, Wales. He visited Pennsylvania in 1686, and moved there in 1696. He settled on about 698 acres in a region designated by William Penn for Welsh Quakers. Ellis named his property "Bryn Mawr," after his estate in Wales (which passed to his daughter Ann). Ellis is said to have built the mansion house, which still exists as a museum, in 1704.

Richard Harrison (?-174?) was a Maryland tobacco farmer, slave owner and Quaker. He married Hannah Norris in 1717, and bought "Bryn Mawr" estate from Rowland Ellis in 1719. Harrison moved his family there from Herring Creek, Maryland. He renamed the estate "Harriton," following the example of his father-in-law Isaac Norris, who named his New Jersey estate "Norriton." Richard Harrison kept slaves at Harriton, which became one of the largest northern slave plantations of its time, but he was at one point chastised by his meeting for keeping too many slaves. Harrison built a meetinghouse (which was razed in the 1820s) and a family burial ground on Harriton grounds.

Hannah Harrison Thomson (1728-1807) was the daughter of Richard Harrison and Hannah Norris Harrison, a Quaker minister whose parents had been a prominent colonial official, and the daughter of a prominent colonial official. Hannah Harrison married the Secretary of the Continental Congresses, Charles Thomson in 1774, and inherited the Harriton estate from her father after his death. Hannah Harrison Thomson lived with her husband at Fourth and Spruce during his political career. After his retirement in 1789, Hannah Harrison Thomson and Charles Thomson returned to her childhood home. Charles Thomson was an abolitionist, and presumably it was he who ended the practice of keeping slaves at Harriton.

The Thomsons had no children, and after helping to raise her great-nephew Charles McClenachan, the eldest surviving child of his generation, they selected Charles to inherit the Harriton estate after their deaths. However, Hannah Harrison Thomson died in 1807, and Charles McClenachan in 1811 (during the lifetime of Charles Thomson). Charles McClenachan then left his inheritance to a six-week old daughter Naomi McClenachan, but under the terms of a life estate, Charles Thomson remained in the old Harriton mansion until his death in 1824.

Page Cadorus (1774-1840) was a former servant or slave, of black or mixed-race. He was a favorite of Charles Thomson, and was probably raised in the Thomson household. During his lifetime, Charles Thomson gave Cadorus a life-estate on another part of the Harriton property. The land was known as Cadorus (or Codorus) Farm, and was legally owned by Page Cadorus, but he never resided there; instead, he leased it to tenant farmers.

After Cadorus died in 1840, his life estate reverted back to the ownership of Naomi McClenachan Morris, who had inherited the entire property from her father. She moved there with her husband, Levi Morris.

Levi handled the management of the estate until his death in 1868, and under his guidance, the Harriton property was leased to a number of tenant farmers. Levi also organized the building and leasing of a mill. He sold plots of land for their timber, and then resold the land as a farm (called Woodleave Farm). There were a number of different farms on the Harriton property, all of which generated money for the Morris family.

It is unclear what buildings existed on this part of the property. A building called Lane's End, which still stands, may have housed Cadorus' tenant farmer as well as a springhouse. The building as it stands now, however, was probably significantly altered (if not entirely re-built) by Levi Morris during the nineteenth century. The same goes for the mansion house in which the Morris family lived. There was probably a building on the same spot before the Morris's moved to the property after Cadorus' death in 1840, but it is unknown exactly what type of building. The current mansion may have been built on top of the former building, or expanded from it. The old Harriton mansion built by Rowland Ellis and lived in by Richard Harrison and family was the home of tenant farmers throughout the nineteenth century, but the Morris family never lived in it.

In the late nineteenth century, Naomi McClenachan Morris decided that it was improper for a Quaker lady to live in a house named after a slave—although Page Cadorus was not necessarily one—and she decided to rename the house and farm where she resided "Harriton." After Naomi's death, her heirs squabbled over the "Harriton" name, and whether it should apply to the former Cadorus region of the estate or to the original side, with the old mansion house.

Biographical/Historical note

Lydia Comfort Shinn Cadbury (1828-1904) – Daughter of Earl and Sarah Comfort Shinn, Lydia Shinn married Richard Cadbury in 1850 and they had four children: Caroline (1851-1914), Richard Tapper (1853-1929), Sara "Sally" Shinn (1855-1876), and Lydia "Lilly" Comfort (1856-1857/8). She was an active member of the Twelfth Street Meeting in Philadelphia.

Richard Cadbury (1825-1897) – Son of Joel and Caroline Cadbury, Richard Cadbury married Lydia Shinn in 1850. He was a partner in the dry goods firm of Cadbury & Thomas, later Cadbury, Rhoads & Thomas. The firm dissolved in the 1880s and Richard supposedly gave up his fortune, never again a rich man. In addition, he served as Steward of the Pennsylvania Hospital, treasurer and manager of the Magdalen Society, manager of Haverford College, and was an original director of the Provident Life and Trust Company with his brothers-in-law Samuel R. Shipley and Henry Haines.

Elizabeth Shinn Haines (1823-1883) – Oldest daughter of Earl and Sarah Comfort Shinn, Elizabeth Shinn married Henry Haines in 1845. They had one son, Henry, who appears to have died young.

Henry Haines (1819-1905) – Son of Job and Phoebe Haines, Henry Haines married Elizabeth Shinn in 1845. From 1865 until his death in 1905, he served as a director of the Provident Life and Trust Company of Philadelphia with his brothers-in-law Samuel R. Shipley and Richard Cadbury.

Jonathan Jones (?-1850?) – Second husband of Mary Thomas McClenachan Jones, Jonathan Jones lost his first wife, Mary Powell Potts Jones, in 1789 when she died in childbirth at the age of eighteen. Jones had an estate in Wynne Wood.

Mary Thomas McClenachan Jones (1787-1876) – Daughter of William and Naomi Thomas, Mary Thomas married Charles McClenachan in 1810 and had daughter Naomi McClenachan in 1811. Six weeks after Naomi's birth, Charles McClenachan died. In 1818, Mary Thomas McClenachan married Jonathan Jones, a second marriage for them both. Mary Jones gave birth to her second child Owen Jones in 1819. The family resided on the Jones estate in Wynne Wood. Mary Jones involved herself in property disputes regarding daughter Naomi McClenachan's contested inheritances of Harriton and a McClenachan estate in Ireland. In her later years, Mary Jones lived with Naomi at Cadorus Farm, a part of the Harriton estate.

Owen Jones (1819-1878) – Son of Mary Thomas McClenachan Jones and Jonathan Jones, Owen Jones was raised on his father's Wynne Wood Estate. He attended the University of Pennsylvania, studied law in Philadelphia, and established a law practice in Ardmore. Owen Jones was elected to the U.S. Congress in 1856 and served from 1857 to 1859. He also served as a delegate from Pennsylvania to the 1860 Democratic National Convention. In 1861 Jones became a Colonel in the United States Army and led Troop B of the First Pennsylvania Cavalry during the Civil War. Owen Jones married Mary Roberts and they had three children: J. Aubrey, Glendower "Glennie," and Emily Roberts. Glennie and Emily each died, at separate times, at the age of twenty-four.

Anna Morris Shinn Maier (1874-1941) – Daughter of Emma Morris Shinn and James Thornton Shinn, Anna Morris Shinn married attorney and Haverford graduate Paul David Irwin Maier in 1906. They had two sons: James Shinn (1907-1999) and William Morris (1909-1982). In this collection, she is sometimes referred to as A.S.M.

James Shinn Maier (1907-1999) – Eldest son of Paul D.I. and Anna S. Maier, James Shinn Maier graduated from Haverford College in 1929. He married Phyllis Flannery in 1945 and they had two daughters: Marianna (1946- ) and Cynthia (1948- ). In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as J.S.M.

Paul David Irwin Maier (1874-1936) – Son of William S. and Rosine Maier, Paul D.I. Maier graduated from Haverford College in 1896 and the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1900. He opened the law firm Cahall and Maier with partner Thomas Cahall in Philadelphia in 1901. He married Anna Morris Shinn in 1906. They had two sons: James Shinn (1907-1999) and William Morris (1909-1982). Maier was elected a Quaker minister in 1916 and was very influential at his Twelfth Street Monthly Meeting and in the wider Philadelphia and Haverford alumnus communities. He was superintendent of the Joseph Sturge Mission School, director of the Friends Central School, and was involved in numerous other philanthropic organizations including the Foulke and Long Institute for Orphan Girls, American Sunday-School Union, Western Soup Society (Western Community House), Infant Clothing Association, Bible Association of Friends, Benezet House, and The Grandon Institution. In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as P.D.I.M.

William Morris Maier (1909-1982) – Youngest son of Paul D.I. and Anna S. Maier, William Morris Maier graduated from Haverford College in 1931 and the University of Pennsylvania Law School in 1935. Upon graduation, he practiced law within his father's firm, Cahall and Maier. Maier served on the Haverford College Board of Managers from 1938 to 1942, during which time he was active on numerous committees, including the Special Nominating Committee for a New President and the Special Library Committee. Maier also served as clerk to Haverford Monthly Meeting beginning in the 1950s. Like his father before him, he was active in many philanthropic organizations, including the Western Soup Society

(Western Community House), Friends' War Problems Committee, the Book Association of Friends, State Teachers College at Cheyney, and the American Sunday-School Union. From 1941 to 1945, Maier served as Executive Secretary of the Hawaii Branch of the American Friends Service Committee, during which time he met Margaret Waterman whom he married in 1943. He was a board member of the American Friends Service Committee for several terms between 1953 and 1969 and served as Treasurer of the Corporation of Haverford College from 1949 until his retirement in 1975. William and Margaret W. Morris had two sons: James Hollingsworth (1947- ) and Anthony Morris (1949- ). In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as W.M.M.

Charles McClenachan (1783-1811) – Son of Robert McClenachan of Ireland, Charles McClenachan was the eldest, and favorite, nephew of Hannah Harrison Thomson. As such, Charles McClenachan was named as heir of the Harriton estate that Hannah Harrison Thomson inherited from her father Richard Harrison. Upon his death in 1811 Charles McClenachan had one child, six week old daughter Naomi.

Caspar Morris (1805-1884) – Son of Israel Wistar Morris and Mary Hollingsworth Morris, Caspar Morris was a prominent physician in the Philadelphia area and was instrumental in the founding and operation of the Hospital of the Protestant Episcopal Church, established in 1851. He married Ann Cheston in 1829 and they had six children: James Cheston, Israel Wistar, Mary Hollingsworth, Galloway Cheston, Cornelia, and Daniel Corrie.

Catharine Wistar Morris (1772-1859) – Daughter of Samuel Morris and Rebecca Wistar Morris, Catharine Wistar Morris never married but remained close to the children and families of her brothers throughout her life.

Catharine Wistar Morris (1840-1922) – Daughter of Levi Morris and Naomi McClenachan Morris, Catharine Wistar Morris was named for her great-aunt and, like her aunt, never married. Catharine lived in the family mansion, "Cadorus," on the Harriton estate for most of her life. After the death of her mother in 1893, Catharine briefly moved from Harriton to live in Philadelphia. In the early twentieth century, Catharine oversaw the Cadorus-Harriton orchards, and sold peaches and other produce in the neighborhood. In this collection, she is sometimes referred to as C.W.M.

Henry Morris (1802-1881) – Son of Israel Wistar Morris and Mary Hollingsworth Morris, Henry Morris married Caroline Old in 1830. An ironworker by trade, he and another ironworker, Thomas T. Tasker, joined his brother Stephen Paschall Iron Works which, in 1835, became the firm of Morris, Tasker and Morris. In 1856 the name of the firm changed to Morris, Tasker, and Company. Henry Morris' Philadelphia home, "Solitude," was located around Fifth and Tasker Streets and, like his "cottage" in Newport, Rhode Island, was designed by Quaker architect Addison Hutton, a close friend of the Morris family. Morris' children with Caroline Old were Ellen, Stephen Paschall, and Emily Hollingsworth.

Israel Morris (1811-1905) – Son of Israel Wistar Morris and Mary Hollingsworth Morris, Israel Morris was an iron merchant and opened a firm in 1829 at Sixteenth and Market Streets, Philadelphia. In 1836, Jacob P. Jones joined the firm, followed by Richard H. Downing in 1847, after which the firm took the name Morris, Jones & Co. The firm was a very successful manufacturer of American Bar and Sheet Iron. Israel Morris retired from Morris, Jones & Co. in 1860. He married Elizabeth Longstreth in 1839 and they had four children: Theodore (1840-1913), Frederick Wistar (1842-1924), Anna (1844-1916), and William Henry (1846-1925). In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as I.M.

Israel Wistar Morris (1778-1870) – Son of Samuel Morris and Rebecca Wistar Morris, Israel Wistar Morris was a merchant in Philadelphia. He was elected a member of the Philadelphia Troop of Light Horse in 1798 and became an honorary member in 1803. Israel married Mary Hollingsworth in 1799 and they had ten children: Stephen Paschall, Henry, Samuel, Caspar, Levi, Hannah, Israel, Jane, and Wistar. The family lived on the Hollingsworth estate at Green Hill Farm, purchased in 1925 by Friends Central School. Mary died in 1820, but Israel never remarried. A devoted Quaker, who wrote serious letters on morality, behavior and conscience to his son Levi, Israel Wistar Morris lived at Green Hill Farm until his death. In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as I.W.M.

Levi Morris (1807-1868) – Son of Israel Wistar and Mary Hollingsworth Morris, Levi Morris attended Westtown school from 1819 to the early 1820s. A practical machinist, Levi apprenticed in the machine shop of Lyman and Ralston in Boston from 1826 to 1828. After he returned to Philadelphia, Levi founded and operated an ironworks at Sixteenth and Markets Streets in Philadelphia. His cousins Isaac Paschall Morris and Joseph Paschall Morris joined his ironworks business, which was subsequently called Levi Morris and Company. Isaac remained a partner until his death in 1869, while Joseph stayed on only briefly. Levi married Naomi McClenachan in 1830. They moved to Naomi's Harriton estate in 1841, after the death of Page Cadorus and after Levi's health problems led him to retire from Levi Morris and Company, the name of which was changed to I.P. Morris and Company. Levi oversaw the construction of the Harriton Mills during the 1830s and then leased the mills to mill workers during the remainder of the nineteenth century. He ran the farms and orchards on the Harriton estate, particularly Cadorus Farm, where his family lived. He rented various sections of the Harriton estate to tenant farmers, throughout most of the nineteenth century. Levi died in 1868 after falling from a train near the Haverford Station. In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as L.M.

Mary Morris (1833-1844) – The first child of Levi Morris and Naomi McClenachan Morris, Mary Morris died of an illness while attending boarding school in 1844.

Mary Hollingsworth Morris (1776-1820) – Daughter of Levi and Hannah (Paschall) Hollingsworth, Mary Hollingsworth married Israel Wistar Morris in 1799. They had ten children before she died in 1820, and their names were: Stephen Paschall, Henry, Samuel, Caspar, Levi, Hannah, Israel, Jane, and Wistar. The collection contains a series of affectionate letters between herself and son Levi while he was at Westtown Boarding School.

Naomi McClenachan Morris (1811-1893) – Daughter of Mary Thomas McClenachan (later Jones) and Charles McClenachan, Naomi McClenachan became the heir of Harriton estate at the age of six weeks when her father died. Her grandfather William Thomas, along with others, acted as Naomi's guardian (though her mother was still alive) until she married Levi Morris in 1830. The properties that Naomi inherited were the subject of many disputes, and her family failed to secure her inheritance to an Irish estate. Levi and Naomi Morris lived in Center City Philadelphia until 1840, when they moved to Naomi's Harriton estate. They lived on the former life-estate of Page Cadorus. Naomi and Levi had six children, only three of whom (Sarah "Sallie" Morris Vaux, Catharine Wistar Morris, and Emma Morris Shinn) survived to adulthood. After Levi's death in 1868, Naomi ran the Harriton farms and mills and dealt with tenant farmers, with the help of her sons-in-law, George Vaux VIII and James Thornton Shinn, and her brothers-in-law. In this collection, she is sometimes referred to as N.M.M.

Stephen Paschall Morris (1800-1865) – Eldest son of Israel Wistar Morris and Mary Hollingsworth Morris, Stephen P. Morris suffered from depression and illness throughout his life. A blacksmith, he founded the Paschall Iron Works in Philadelphia in the 1820s. Stephen P. Morris married Quaker Rachel Johnson, a friend of the Grimké sisters, in 1827. Rachel died at age 30, in 1837, and in 1854, Stephen Paschall married Mary Ann Cope. In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as S.P.M.

Wistar Morris (1815-1891) – Youngest son of Israel Wistar Morris and Mary Hollingsworth Morris, Wistar Morris was elected a Director of the Pennsylvania Railroad in 1855 and held that post until his death. He also served as President of the Board of Managers of Haverford College and of the Pennsylvania Hospital. Wistar Morris managed his mother's estate, Green Hill Farm, and built an elaborate country house there in 1863, the year he married Mary Harris. They had one daughter, Mary (1864-1891).

Earl Shinn (1796-1865) – Son of Samuel E. and Hannah Simpson Shinn, Earl Shinn married Sarah Comfort in 1822. Over the course of sixteen years they had eight children: Elizabeth Shinn Haines (1823-1883), Anna Shinn Shipley (1826-1888), Lydia Comfort Shinn Cadbury (1828-1904), Samuel Earl (1830-1855), James Thornton (1834-1907), Charles (died in infancy), Rebecca (1836-1882), and Earl Jr. (1838-1886). Earl Shinn worked as a bricklayer and measurer and owned property in Philadelphia and the surrounding areas. He and Sarah were prominent members of the Monthly Meeting of Philadelphia. In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as E.S.

Earl Shinn Jr. (1838-1886) – Son of Earl and Sarah Comfort Shinn, Earl Shinn Jr., against the wishes of his parents, sought a career in painting and enrolled at the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts where he studied from 1859 to 1863. After a brief stint in New York, he traveled to France in 1866 where he studied drawing at the Ecole des Beaux-Arts in Paris under Jean-Leon Gérôme and helped establish the artists' colony at Pont-Aven on the Breton coast. His colorblindness and nearsightedness, however, hindered him from becoming a professional artist. He returned to Philadelphia in 1868 and wrote art criticism for the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. In 1870 he moved back to New York where he remained an art critic until his death. During that time he contributed to such publications as the Nation (for which he held the ambiguous post of art editor from 1874-1879), Lippincott's Magazine, Scribner's Monthly, the New York Evening Post, and The Art Amateur. He was also a member of the Tile Club, a group of New York artists and writers that included Winslow Homer, William Merritt Chase, and Augustus Saint-Gaudens. Shinn also wrote a series of books about art, including a catalogue of the art gallery at the 1876 Centennial Exhibition in Philadelphia, several volumes about modern French art, and two massive works about private art collections in America, all under the pseudonym “Edward Strahan.” Through all of these writings he emerged as one of the leading American art critics of the 1870s and 1880s yet simultaneously remained for the most part out of the public eye. In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as E.S. Jr.

Ellen Morris Shinn (1832-1866) – Daughter of Henry Morris and Caroline Old Morris, Ellen Morris married James Thornton Shinn in 1863. Diagnosed with cancer in the early 1860s, Ellen died of the disease after only three years of marriage. In 1870, her husband James married her cousin, Emma.

Emma Morris Shinn (1849-1912) – The youngest daughter of Levi and Naomi McClenachan Morris, Emma Morris married James Thornton Shinn in 1870. Her first child Morris Earl died at the age of two years old from measles. Her second and only surviving child Anna married Paul D.I. Maier in 1906. Emma lived with her husband James next to James' pharmacy at the South West corner of Broad and Spruce Streets. In the early twentieth century, Emma sold parts of the Harriton estate out of the family, effectively splitting the old Harriton mansion and property, owned by the Vaux family, from the Cadorus

(now "Harriton") side of the property, owned by the Morrises and later the Maiers. In this collection, she is sometimes referred to as E.M.S.

James Thornton Shinn (1834-1907) – Son of Earl and Sarah Comfort Shinn, James Thornton Shinn studied at Westtown School from 1848 to 1849. In 1854 he enrolled at the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy where he remained for two years. Upon the death of his older brother Samuel Earl Shinn in 1855, he took control of his pharmacy on the corner of Broad and Spruce Streets and operated it with his partner Thomas A. Montgomery until 1892 when they sold the business. In his retirement (and even before it) he became a philanthropist, serving as secretary of the Pennsylvania Hospital, president of the board of managers of the Catherine Street House of Industry, the Association Centre of University Extension Teaching, and the Philadelphia Vacant Lots Association, and manager of the Philadelphia Fuel Savings Society and the Indian Rights Association. He married Ellen Morris in 1863, three years before she died of cancer. In 1870 he married her cousin Emma Morris and they had a son, Morris Earl (1871-1874) and a daughter, Anna Morris (1877-1941). In this collection, he is sometimes referred to as J.T.S.

Morris Earl Shinn (1871-1874) – Son of Emma Morris Shinn and James Thornton Shinn, Morris Earl died of measles at the age of two. He was buried in the graveyard of the Haverford Meeting House.

Rebecca Shinn (1836-1882) – Daughter of Earl and Sarah Comfort Shinn, Rebecca Shinn suffered from poor health for much of her adult life. In this collection, she is sometimes referred to as R.S.

Sarah Comfort Shinn (1801-1865) – Daughter of David and Beulah Walton Comfort, Sarah Comfort married Earl Shinn in 1822. They had eight children: Elizabeth (1823-1883), Anna (1826-1888), Lydia (1828-1904), Samuel Earl (1830-1855), James Thornton (1834-1907), Charles (dates unknown, appears to have died early), Rebecca (1836-1882), and Earl (1838-1886).

Anna Shinn Shipley (1826-1888) – Daughter of Earl and Sarah Comfort Shinn, Anna Shinn married Samuel R. Shipley in 1851. They had three daughters, Susan, Anna, and Anna Bella. Anna Shipley wrote poetry, some of which can be found in Occasional Poems and Hymns, published by her family and friends shortly after her death.

Samuel Richard Shipley (1828-1908) – Husband of Anna Shinn Shipley, Samuel R. Shipley served as president of the Provident Life and Trust Company, a prominent Philadelphia bank and insurance company, from 1865 to 1905. During his adult life he involved himself in a number of philanthropic and benevolent activities. He and Anna had three daughters, Susan, Anna, and Anna Bella.

Charles Thomson (1729-1824) – Secretary of the Continental Congresses, Charles Thomson is perhaps the most famous individual in the Morris-Shinn-Maier Collection. Married to Hannah Harrison in 1774, Thomson lived after his retirement from politics on his wife's estate. After Hannah Harrison's death in 1807, Charles Thomson remained in the Harriton mansion according to his life-estate. An abolitionist, it may have been Thomson who ended Harriton's operation as a slave plantation. Thomson died in 1824, just as Naomi McClenachan's guardians prepared to take him to court to force him off the Harriton estate. Thomson, and his wife Hannah, were buried in the Harriton family burial ground in unmarked graves. In 1838, their bodies were disinterred and transplanted to Laurel Hill Cemetery amid controversy over the ownership of the bodies and the burial ground. Due to the lack of head stones, however, the bodies of Charles and Hannah Thomson may still reside in the Harriton graveyard.

George Vaux VIII (1832-1915) – Son of George and Eliza Head Sansom Vaux, George Vaux VIII married Sarah "Sallie" Morris Vaux in 1859, and had three children: Mary Morris Vaux (Walcott) (1860-1940), George "Georgie" Vaux IX (1863-1927), and William "Willie" Sansom Vaux (1872-1902). He had a contentious relationship with his mother-in-law Naomi McClenachan Morris, sisters-in-law Catharine Wistar Morris and Emma Morris Shinn, and brother-in-law James Thornton Shinn. George Vaux managed the finances and property of his wife's family after her father Levi Morris died in 1868. He also served as Secretary and Treasurer of the Swatara Coal Company and involved himself in numerous charitable organizations. For much of his adult life he lived at 1715 Arch Street, Philadelphia. In the 1880s, Vaux built a "cottage" called "Llysyfran" on his children's share of the Harriton property. This cottage was later torn down to make way for Cavershem road. Also on his children's property, George Vaux built a house, "The Thicket," which now houses Bryn Mawr College's English House.

George Vaux IX (1863-1927) – Son of George Vaux VIII and Sarah Morris Vaux, George Vaux IX graduated from Haverford College in 1884. He was a member of the law firm of P. Pemberton Morris until 1906 when President Theodore Roosevelt appointed him to the Board of Indian Commissioners, a post he held until his death. Throughout his life he continued his father's practice of philanthropy and community involvement. He married Mary Walsh James in 1907 and they had two sons, George Vaux X (1908-1996) and Henry Vaux (1912- ).

Mary Morris Vaux Walcott (1860-1940) – Daughter of George Vaux VIII and Sarah Morris Vaux, Mary Vaux married Charles Walcott in 1914. The couple moved to Washington, D.C. for Charles' job at the Smithsonian Institute.

Sarah H. Morris Vaux (1838-1880) – The eldest surviving daughter of Levi Morris and Naomi McClenachan Morris, Sarah "Sallie" Morris married George Vaux VIII in 1859 and resided in his home at 1715 Arch Street. They had three children: Mary Morris Vaux (Walcott) (1860-1940), George "Georgie" Vaux IX (1863-1927), and William "Willie" Sansom Vaux (1872-1902).

William Sansom Vaux (1872-1902) – Son of George Vaux VIII and Sarah Morris Vaux, William Sansom Vaux was named for his uncle, George Vaux's brother. He graduated from Haverford College in 1893, and died in 1902 of tuberculosis.

Emily Hollingsworth Morris Wood (1842-1916) – Daughter of Henry Morris and Caroline Old Morris, Emily "Lilly" Morris was a great friend of her cousin Catharine Wistar Morris. She married James Wood (1839-1925) in 1868 and the couple built their home, "Braewold," in Mt. Kisco, New York, designed by Addison Hutton, the same Quaker architect who designed her parents' Philadelphia home called "Soliture." Emily and James had three children: Ellen Morris (1868-1900), Carolena M[orris] (1871-1936) and Levi Hollingsworth Wood (1873-1956), the latter two of whom were well-known Quaker activists. Carolena did relief work in Europe (she was among the first American women, with Jane Addams and Dr. Alice Hamilton, to visit Germany after World War I), Central and South America, and Asia, as well as in the United States. L. Hollingsworth Wood was a classmate of Paul D.I. Maier at Haverford, a prominent attorney, and a founder of the American Civil Liberties Union and the American Friends Service Committee.

Scope and Contents note

Letters are to A.S.M. and P.D.I.M. while traveling in Europe with friends during the summer of 1929. The exact itinerary of the trip is described in the letter written 1929 7/16, but briefly includes Monte Carlo, Genoa, Rome, Florence, Lake Como, Venice, Innsbruck, Munich, Nuremberg, Frankfurt, Heidelberg, Mainz, Cologne, Amsterdam, Hague, Brussels and Paris. The travel writing and observations in this folder are quite interesting.

Some highlights include:

Harriton, PA. 1929 ?? (first letter). ["We have met our future roommates. They are men of about 35, one being a Jew from his appearances, the other probably a Dutchman. Pretty tough luck I call it."]

Harriton, PA. 1929 8/12. ["I am enjoying myself immensely and am ever so glad that I came abroad. I hate to think of returning and getting down to work. This way of living surely makes you feel independent and free."]

Letters are to A.S.M. while on vacation in 1939. Vacation cut short by the opening stages of World War II.

Some highlights include:

Harriton, PA. 1939 ["I was very glad to get thy letter on Thursday when I called at the American Express Co. office. It sounded as if things weren't going so well with thee, and I hope everything is all right now. As I wired thee Thursday evening I have given up my plan of going to Germany because of the crisis. As a matter of fact last night it was announced that the Dutch-German border was closed, so I probably couldn't have gone anyway."]

Some highlights include:

Harriton, 1910 5/27. [P.D.I.M. discusses a (urine?) “specimen” which he gave “Isaac.” Apparently, a portion of it was also taken to the hospital. P.D.I.M. proceeds to remark that “It looks as if my kidneys were working” concerning the specimen]

Harriton, 1910 6/14. [P.D.I.M. encloses a short note to J.S.M. saying that he is traveling to go see “Uncle Will,” “Aunt Katie,” “cousin Sylvia,” and “cousin Elsie”]

Harriton, 1910 9/23. [P.D.I.M. expresses his hope for A.S.M.'s quick and easy return from Mount Kisco and that “the mental strain will not be so great.” Enclosed is also a post card he wrote to young J.S.M. while he was in Mount Kisco as well] Harriton, 1910 9/23. [P.D.I.M. expresses excitement over the prospect of A.S.M. and J.S.M.'s return from Mount Kisco as he has remained in Bryn Mawr with W.M.M. He also includes a small letter to J.S.M. sending his love]

Law Offices of Cahall & Maier, Philadelphia, 1911 5/17. [“It is over five years since we were made one but each day, it seems, brings us closer and closer together and our love grows deeper and deeper”]

Law Offices of Cahall & Maier, Philadelphia, 1911 8/1. [P.D.I.M. mentions that he “called up mother and found she is not feeling very well”]

Philadelphia, 1912 12/25. [A.S.M. writes P.D.I.M. a Christmas note expressing her love: “I cannot tell thee how much I love thee and what thee is to me!” A.S.M. also writes a short essay entitled “The Precious Seed,” which is a romantic allegory for God’s creation of existence]

Individuals

Philadelphia, 1913 2/13. [P.D.I.M. sends A.S.M. a Valentine's Day card] Letchworth Cottage, Silver Lake, NJ, 1913 4/15. [A.S.M. writes from the New Jersey Shore, where she is vacationing with J.S.M. and W.M.M., remarking that the ocean “has been gorgeous”] Letchworth Cottage, Silver Lake, NJ, 1913 4/22. [A.D.M. writes “I need thy love and strength and help so much that I cannot get along without thee near me”]

Some highlights include:

Philadelphia, 1919 2/23. [P.D.I.M. writes to A.S.M. while she and J.S.M. are vacationing at the Chalfonte in Atlantic City, NJ. He also encloses a short note from W.M.M.]

Chalfonte, Atlantic City, NJ, 1919 2/23. [A.S.M. expresses concern over J.S.M.'s health: “I tried James’ temperature as soon as we got in and it was down to 97 as before so I waited until 3:30 when it was 99. It is most discouraging the way it keeps up”]

Philadelphia, 1919 2/24. [P.D.I.M. discusses the funeral of Dr. Tyson (?), which he just attended, noting his opinion that, altogether, “justice had not been done to the subject”]

Chalfonte, Atlantic City, NJ, 1919 2/25. [A.S.M. continues to express concern over J.S.M.'s fluctuating temperature]

Philadelphia, 1919 2/26. [P.D.I.M. discusses the abrupt departure of Elizabeth McKnight, an Irish Protestant who had been the Maiers' housekeeper. Aside from a cryptic, hand-written note to “Mrs. Palmer,” Mcknight’s employer, she neglected to inform any of the Maiers prior to her departure. P.D.I.M. was deeply offended by her inexplicable behavior, remarking that it has “such a shock to my faith in human nature, as I simply could not think of Elizabeth doing such a thing.” Enclosed is an indignant type-written note to McKnight that included back pay and the note McKnight originally wrote to Mrs. Palmer]

Chalfonte, Atlantic City, NJ, 1919 2/26. [A.S.M. responds to P.D.I.M.’s shock over Elizabeth McKnight’s abrupt departure from Harriton, specifically citing his previously stated high opinion of Irish Protestants and his assertion that the next housekeeper will likely be black: “Well, well, well! What about thy sentiments in regard to the high principles etc of the Irish Protestants? I don’t think there is much difference between the races after all—does thee?”]

Philadelphia, 1919 2/27. [P.D.I.M. continues to ruminate over the sudden departure of Elizabeth McKnight. “I will admit it was a great shock in my faith in human nature to have Elizabeth treat us thus. I have such a high regard for the Irish Protestants and it did not seem possible that Elizabeth would do anything so despicable. Our colored brethren have certainly come to the rescue and that stock is up!”]

Chalfonte, Atlantic City, NJ, 1919 2/28. [A.S.M. discusses James’ apparent “weak” appearance when he tries to run. She proceeds to comment further on the Elizabeth McKnight situation]

Letters written while P.D.I.M., J.S.M., and W.M.M. travel across western Europe. Their itinerary was as follows: New York, Holland-America Cruise Line, Paris, Geneva, Interlaken, Zermatt, Andermatt, Weissenburg, Heidelberg, Köln a Rhein (sp), Amsterdam, London, Edinburgh, Glasgow, Keswick, Chester, Leamington and Devon.

P.D.I.M. often expresses a sense of longing for A.S.M., who remains at home. A.S.M. discuss the predominantly mundane aspects of maintaining Harriton and inquires what the boys have experienced abroad.

Some highlights include:

Grand Hotel de Russie, Geneva, 1927 7/15. [P.D.I.M., J.S.M., and W.M.M. meet Dr. Iwao Ayusawa, a prominent Japanese Quaker and Haverford alum, who discussed his work as associate director at the International Labour Organization in Geneva]

Carlton Hotel, Interlaken, 1927 7/17. [P.D.I.M. expresses the degree to which his present experiences in Europe remind him of a previous trip to the region with A.S.M. in 1906: “[Interlaken] is full of memories of thee and 1906!”]

Some highlights include:

Hudson River Navigation Company Steamer, 1928 7/17. [P.D.I.M. writes the first letter on his steam boat progressing north on the Hudson River]

Individuals

Back Log Camp, 1928 7/18. [P.D.I.M. arrives at Back Log and meets up with W.M.M., receiving a “most hearty and cordial welcome”]

Harriton, 1928 7/18. [“I have just gotten very hot over accounts—Rae dusted yesterday and my ship(?) disappeared!” But at least they are straight]

Back Log Camp, 1928 7/19. [P.D.I.M. alludes to a "Reading room" which is being constructed on the camp grounds to stand “between the dining tent and lake.” It is projected to be finished by the end of the summer]

Harriton, 1928 7/19. [A.S.M. encloses a letter from the Provident Trust Company of Philadelphia addressed to her conveying a June 28th Board of Directors resolution]

Harriton, 1928 7/22. [A.S.M. discusses her trip to Quaker meeting, “I enjoyed the silence,” and mentions two Swedish and two German students living with Henry Scattergood coming to visit the house]

Harriton, 1928 7/23. [“A letter from James this afternoon reports that he is o.k. and looking forward to college. Hates to think this is his last year. I think life behind the desk is too monotonous for him!”]

Back Log Camp, 1928 7/25. [P.D.I.M. notes the arrival of “Cousin Tom” to the camp. He expresses hope that “it will not be too much for him.”] Back Log Camp, 1928 7/27. [P.D.I.M. encloses a “clipping about a sale of neighboring property” to A.S.M.]

Harriton, 1929 7/20. [A.S.M. writes to discuss a dumping problem. According to her, the Suburban Construction Company contacted her seeking permission from P.D.I.M. to dump on Harriton property. A.S.M. withheld any response, citing her husband's absence. Later, she discovered that the company had, in fact, dumped on Harriton property without obtaining permission—which elicited an apology from Mr. McGuiley (sp), presumably an employee of the company]

Back Log Camp, 1929 7/23. [P.D.I.M. expresses consternation over the recent dumping problem at Harriton, commenting that he would “hate to see it a dumping ground for the neighborhood” and proposing that A.S.M. erect a sign to prevent similar issues in the future]

Harriton, 1929 7/23. [“I succeeded in getting in touch with my McGuiley (sp) man this morning and isn't nearly so suave as when he was trying to make pleasant excuses!]

Harriton, 1929 7/26. [A.S.M. discusses the continuing issue of the dump on the Harriton property: “It makes you mad to be imposed on—that's the worst of it. The actual dump doesn't interfere with anything—and we may get a fence out of it!” A.S.M. also attended the funeral of a Mr. Graham]

Harriton, 1929 7/28. [“This afternoon Earl Cadbury drove his father up to see me. He is really a pathetic sight—so thin and tottery and apparently not always quite clear in his mind. They were here almost an hour”]

Back Log Camp, 1929 7/30. [“I feel encouraged about my physical condition at least and I hope my nerves are better.” In addition, PDIM notes that “Cousin Tom” has taken ill—“it seems like another stroke”—and that a nurse had been summoned]

Harriton, 1929 7/31. [A.S.M. mentions to P.D.I.M. her decision to dip into the meeting house's “$1,000 legacy” to paint its interior: “I don't suppose thee would have approved of that, but I did!” In addition, she expresses concern over an injury W.M.M. sustained “hurdling,” which apparently caused pain after playing tennis. A.S.M. lobbied for him to see a doctor for it, but he ultimately declined]

Letters written while P.D.I.M. was vacationing with W.M.M. (J.S.M. was in Europe at the time) at Back Log Quaker Camp near Jackman, Maine.

Some highlights include:

Harriton, 1929 8/1. [A.S.M. encloses a post card from “Anne B” who writes from Northeast Harbor, ME]

Back Log Camp, 1929 8/1. [P.D.I.M. remarks that “Cousin Tom” appears better following his apparent stroke: “He seemed much better for his mind and speech seem quite clear.” Nonetheless, a nurse is being sent for and he needs “considerable looking after”]

Harriton, 1929 8/2. [A.S.M. attends a wedding, noting that she “gave the bride and groom my blessing this afternoon”]

Back Log Camp, 1929 8/2. [P.D.I.M. writes that the nurse for "Cousin Tom" has arrived and appears to be taking good care of him. In addition, his condition seems to be improving overall as he is speaking and interacting with clarity]

Back Log Camp, 1929 8/3. [P.D.I.M. comments that W.M.M.’s hip injury has improved. He also proceeds to describe Cousin Tom’s seemingly worsening condition—openly questioning how much longer he will live: “I feel sorry for him, for he seems to have so little to live for. I think the family feels the he has lived his life and there would be little sorrow at his departure”]

Back Log Camp, 1929 8/4. [P.D.I.M. remarks that Cousin Tom is “not well” as his blood pressure has worsened. “There is not much to go on”]

Back Log Camp, 1929 8/5. [P.D.I.M. begins the letter expressing pessimistic feelings about Cousin Tom’s condition, noting that he is in and out of a coma and that it is only a "question of hours. "One of the last things he did was to catch a large pickerel and now his end is coming in the woods which he so much loved.” By the end of the letter, however, P.D.I.M. revises his earlier prediction, noting a slight improvement in Cousin Tom’s state]

Back Log Camp, 1929 8/6. [P.D.I.M. reports that Tom is a “trifle better” and that “Richard and the rest of his family” is expected to arrive at the camp]

Individuals

Back Log Camp, 1929 8/7. [P.D.I.M. now reports that, once again, it is only a matter of time with Tom, reflecting on the situation with a very specific philosophy: “Thee knows the old story—‘first they were afraid he would die and then afraid he wouldn’t.’ I shall be glad to get away before the end comes”]

Harriton, 1929 8/21. [P.D.I.M. writes just after returning to Harriton from his stay at the Back Log Camp. At present, A.S.M. is at Cliff House, in Ogunquit, Maine, where she is receiving her letters care of Mrs. Henry S. Williams. P.D.I.M. also encloses a letter from W.M.M., who remained at Back Log Camp]

Harriton, 1929 8/22. [P.D.I.M. mentions that he received an “enthusiastic” letter from J.S.M., who is just leaving Paris for England. P.D.I.M. also encloses a post card from Mary J. Elliot who is writing from Griscom Hall in Buck Hill Falls, PA]

Law Offices of Cahall and Maier. 1929 8/23. [P.D.I.M. discusses a phone call he had with Fred Sharpless]

Harriton, 1929 8/27. [P.D.I.M. encloses a letter from W.M.M. who remains at Back Log Camp]

Harriton, 1929 8/28. [P.D.I.M. encloses a letter from Jamie H. Pork (sp), writing from Echo Lake, PA, and a post card from “Ed,” who, along with Ann Scattergood, is visiting the Pocono Lake Preserve]

Letters to W.M.M. recount daily activities and news within the family. Letters from A.S.M. provide a good sense of the domestic activities of the Maier family, both within the nuclear family and more generally, while also showing the close relationship between W.M.M. and his parents while at boarding school. Letters from P.D.I.M. show a distinct concern about the family health, fiscal matters and W.M.M.'s education and general well being. P.D.I.M. often offers suggestion, but is not overbearing, ultimately leaving W.M.M. to make decisions. Letters also show some of W.M.M.'s interests and activities including soccer, theater, and dance lessons.

Some highlights include:

Westtown, PA. 1926 11/17 [“Mother and I have been thinking about thy undertaking the editorship of the class book and we hope thee will not do it if thee feels it is going to be a great burden and task to thee. As thee knows the Brown and White is taking up very much time and thee has the College Board examinations to think about. We do not want thee to work so hard so that thy health will be undermined. Therefore before accepting the editorship do give the whole matter thy serious thought and consideration.”]

Westtown, PA. 1926 12/9 [“I am certainly pleased thee has worked up to the second soccer team, and it is fine for thee to be in a regular match game. Father and I have been talking over 7th day plans we

Morris family receipts 1820-1904 15.0 Boxes

Scope and Contents note

This subseries is made up of receipts from the Morris family. The receipts begin in the 1820s, when Levi Morris lived alone. Levi Morris and Naomi McClenachan Morris married in 1831 and lived first in Philadelphia, moving to Harriton, which she inherited from her father, in 1840. Levi died in 1868, at which point Naomi began managing the farm with the assistance of her daughter Catharine Wistar Morris and her son-in-law, James Thornton Shinn. After her death in 1893, Catharine Wistar Morris and James Thornton Shinn managed the farm. The receipts end in 1904 for unclear reasons.

The receipts are organized as they were found, bundled and labeled by year. There has been no organization of the receipts beyond that provided by those bundles.

Some highlights include:

Brooke Hall, 1861 3/16. [Account of attending concert at which there is a great patriotic and pro-union fervor surrounding U.S. flag and "Star-Spangled Banner".]

Solitude, 1861 4/23. [Account of hearing John Hodgkin, Samuel Bettle, and Eliza Gurney at Meeting. Heard a sermon on peace principle from John Hodgkin.]

Solitude, 1861 7/14. ["give much love to Katie and tell her to remember how good it was to get letters when she was at Newport and 'do to others as she should that they should do to you.'"]

Newport, 1861 7/29. ["At 12 o'clock we were all waked up by hearing a whizzing noise very near and Aunt J and I ran up into the tower and discovered that they were firing off rockets and cannon on the lot above us as a salute to the Rhode Island troops who were coming up the bay in a steam boat. They fired away for ½ an hour each report shaking the house and almost deafening us until the steam boat passed out of sight and then they went away leaving us to sleep if we could."]

Solitude, 1861 9/22. [Writes of The Initials, which is as good a novel as any she has read except Jane Eyre: "and I believe as a sketch of domestic life in Germany it is considered unequaled and it is very interesting to me."]

Solitude, 1861 10/20. [Writes of hearing John Hodgkin speak at Orange Street Meeting. Sermon from the text "Thou shalt have the dew of thy youth". On James Shinn: "I have not words at my command to describe him. He is polite, agreeable, accomplished in everything manly and gentlemanly, enthusiastically fond of horses, poetry and everything beautiful, does everything just as you want it without being asked, and all this with an, I was going to say ugly face, but his face is too good and pure to be ugly, but he is certainly not handsome. He rides easily and well and manages his horse by his own feelings I should think. He furthermore behaved as if he had known you all your life. Altogether my dear Katie I am entirely in love with him. Unfortunately I am not so attractive to him as he to me and so all the danger is of my wasting my affection upon him. How I shall be able to endure riding with Fred at Pt. Breeze after this charming ride."] Again, on John Hodgkin: "On 5th day morn all the friends were invited to meet John Hodgkin at Arch Street meeting and we accordingly went. The house was very full and the dear Friend had a most beautiful sermon of reproof and love for us. His text was one of prophetic rejoicing—‘When the Lord shall bring again the captivity of Zion, Jacob shall rejoice—and Israel shall be glad.’”]

Solitude, 1861 11/10. On race: [“On Third and Fifth day we went as usual to lectures—and on 5th day we Sallie and I made Fred wait on us to Summers lecture much to the disgust of that young gentleman for not only was the subject of the lecture slavery but there was quite a number of colored people or as Fred called them ‘niggers’—and his high mightiness cannot put up with the idea of such creatures listening to the same thing as himself. I wonder how he will bear to see their glorified spirits in heaven?”]

On blacks fighting in the Civil War: “I was very much disappointed in Summer’s fare for it is a very bad one. What he said was very true however only to my horror he hopes that the negroes will be allowed to fight. Just think of the awful situation of the South if the North stir up the slaves against them.”]

Solitude, 1861 12/29. [“This morning we went to meeting which was a silent one Thomas Evans being absent. Isaac Wistar was there in his soldier cap and cloak. His father is very attentive to him being I fancy rather proud of him.”]

1715 Arch Street, First day eve (No date). [On Jim Wood: “But the crowning pleasure of this week has been that the long talked of ‘Jim Wood’ has been to our house. He was there on 5th day to dinner and he is one of the most agreeable young men I ever saw and I think the very handsomest. Oh! I am ‘a goner’ in consequence, he also came to stay all night on 6th day and on 7th day morning he and I had a pleasant little talk while Harry went to the Works. He has the finest eyes I ever saw and is altogether fascinating.”]

Somewhat frequent discussions of shopping, fashion, and art, often at the Philadelphia Academy of Fine Arts.

Some highlights include:

Newport, 1863 7/2. [On the Battle of Gettysburg: "How anxious you must all be, and how near the danger! It is hard to realize in this quiet, peaceful, place that there is war in the land and tho' the reports make me feel very anxious for a time yet some how the anxiety slips away as I look out on the blue waters and across at the quiet tumbling hills with the sheep feeding quietly on them, the white sails flitting to and fro and all seeming as it is, an island of rest in the shadow of those mighty wings under which alone peace and safety are to be found. I am sure we will not be disappointed."]

Newport, 1876, 11/3. [On barn fire: "The sorrowful news contained in letter from Ira(?) James this morning makes me seize a few moments on this busy day to express to thee and dear Aunt Naomi our heartfelt sympathy and we know how it feels to have loss by fire! The horror of the shock I feel particularly for thee dearly beloved sister for thy nerves have had so much to bear in years past and the dread of fire is so great. How truly thankful we are that your house was uninjured and that your horses escaped. What a scene of excitement you must have had and does it not make you feel so terribly anxious to see those burning hands flying off in every direction. Dear old barn! How many happy hours we children have passed in and about it." Talk of estrangement from Harry's wife.]

Paris, 1890, 8/10. [Account of travel around Europe.]

Dresden, 1890, 12/11. [Description of life and activities in Dresden.]

Braewold, Mount Kisco, New York, 1912, 9/15. ["This is my little daughter Ellen's birthday and I have recalled her arrival at Solitude so long ago. She was a most dear child and her work seems to have grown in her absence very wonderfully. I feel her loss very keenly but am glad when I can remember that pain and sorrow are not known in that blessed country where she lives. I find myself dreading the growing old and feeble and helpless and rejoicing when any of my dear ones are spared years of failing powers as I see poor Aunt Mary Wood and Caroline Wood in their distressful day by day failure of mental and bodily powers I am fain to pray for myself that my stay may not be prolonged."]

There we met...Mr. and Mrs. Mott. Mrs. Mott looked too lovely for anything she was dressed in a black satin skirt with a heavy bore plaiting of velvet around the bottom and a black velvet zouave jacket trimmed with white and black cord the inside body was of Swiss muslin with Valenciennes lace and a crimson velvet ribbon run through it. Her hair was waved and arranged in a French twist very low behind. ### Scope and Contents note

Note: Most of these letters pertain to financial matters between N.M.M. and George Vaux, as it appears Vaux handled her finances in the years after Levi Morris' death.

Some highlights include:

1881 5/15. [writes that he will not burn his letters and alludes to tension between him and N.M.M.]

1881 6/1. [list of N.M.M.'s "more important affairs" in case anything should happen to him]

1882 1/22. [asks N.M.M. to reconsider her decision not to spend the winter at his house]

1882 2/6. [discusses the "misunderstanding" between them and writes that he hopes they can make peace]

1882 2/12. [expresses surprise at N.M.M.'s rejection per J.T.S. of his invitation for her to come to his house to discuss "family difficulties" and her stipulation that if they meet it should be at J.T.S. and E.M.S.'s house and in the presence of C.W.M. and E.M.S.]

1882 11/13. [discusses son Willie's sickness]

Philadelphia, 1883 1/14. ["I do not like to write business letters on first day, but was so crowded yesterday that I was compelled to let many things lay over and this letter was one of them."]

Individuals

Philadelphia, 1883 1/19. [encourages N.M.M. to donate to the Historical Society of Pennsylvania toward its purchase of the Patterson property on 13th and Locust Streets and encloses a subscription card]

1883 10/11. [advises N.M.M. against converting the mill to steam power as “it would be a step toward the neighborhood which would undoubtedly impair the value of thy adjoining property”]

“Home,” 1884 11/23. [thanks N.M.M. for her invitation for him to visit Cadorus but declines as it will be the fourth anniversary of Sallie’s last visit to the house, rendering a visit unbearable for him]

Thou hast done much for me, and hast a right to expect much; and in the presence of this congregation, I resign myself and all that I have to Thee;--it is thine;--and I pray thee, give me resolution in this to continue firm. Wheresoever Thou leadest me, O Lord, I will follow Thee, throuh persecution even unto martyrdom: if my life be required, I will freely sacrifice it.--Now I know that my Redeemer liveth. The mountains are removed--Hallelujah! Teach me to despise the shame, in the opinion of the people of this world. Thou knowest, O Lord, my deep baptisms--I acknowledge my manifold transgressions--I know my unworthiness of Thy favors which I have received. I thank Thee, father, that Thou hast hid thy mysteries

Letter from Mary Shipley, n.d., regarding "Mrs. Meader"

Letter to "Mr. Jackson," unsigned, undated.

Individuals

Christmas card and wrapper: "With ever so much love from your friend M.S. Cope, Christmas 1886", "Mary is not well and I direct(?) this for her, Affy, T.P.C."

Letters sent from Tacony, Philadelphia, 1898 11/28

To Messrs Disston + Co from Cornwell Geo.; to Messrs Barton + Son Co, unsigned; "Dear Friend," from Maggie Hepp; "Dear Friend," from Ada Robinson; "Dear Mickle(?)," from Herbert Waterhouse; Mr. Charles Brugeman from Charles Widmaier; "Dear Sister," from Thomas S. Williams

All of these letters appear to be an application for a job. They describe the writers' age, education and moral character (for example, whether they drink to excess or go to church).
