

The Center for Peace & Global Citizenship Fellowship with

Facing History and Ourselves (FHAO) is an international education organization headquartered in Brookline, MA, whose mission is to engage students of diverse backgrounds in an examination of racism, prejudice, and antisemitism in order to promote the development of a more humane and informed citizenry. By studying the historical development and lessons of the Holocaust and other genocides, students make the essential connection between history and the moral choices they confront in their own lives.

CPGC and FHAO co-sponsor summer internships as part of a year-long fellowship program (more info below and on CPGC's website).

Summer 2020 Internship Description

The selected intern will work in the Program department of the Brookline, Massachusetts office. Internships at FHAO are usually a mixture of core projects and administrative support. Past projects have included:

- Whole school review: performing meta-research; outlining the importance of school environment, school leadership and teacher efficacy; interviewing a number of FHAO's regional offices to determine the types and scope of the region's whole school work; collecting documents from each region and outlining their approach to whole school work.
- Tabulation and analysis of seminar attendance: reviewing and tabulating attendance at FHAO's past seminars, creating visuals, and analyzing attendance trends.
- Lesson development: working with the Jewish Ed team to study monuments in Poland and create lessons for high school students on community reactions to event memorialization.
- Reviewing California district Local Control and Accountability Plans (LCAP) to determine potential FHAO professional development opportunities.
- Utilizing the FHAO Resource Library, listening to guest speakers, and attending summer workshops (space and time permitting).

Fellows continue their journey through a re-entry course upon returning to campus in the fall.
