Summer 2023 Internship Program

About the Internship
The Monument Lab summer internship is a 10 week program providing undergraduate and graduate students the opportunity to learn about and support local, national, and international public art non-profit work. Functioning at the intersection of fine art, museum work, history, activism, and public engagement, the Monument Lab internship program emphasizes the myriad of skills involved in non-profit work in general as well as in working specifically with monuments.

Interns are paired with supervisors from the various teams at Monument Lab, including Projects, Research, Communications, Operations and Administration, Design, and Partnerships. Unless otherwise stipulated to receive course credit or funding, interns are expected to contribute 20 hours per week in the summer session, which can be done virtually, in person at our office in Philadelphia, or as a pre-determined combination thereof. If more hours are required to fulfill funding or credit requirements, we are happy to accommodate your requirements.

Interns will attend weekly theoretical discussion sessions as well as mentoring sessions presented by the staff members of Monument Lab and by artists and representatives from partner organizations.

Eligibility
Currently enrolled undergraduate and graduate students and students who will have graduated the previous semester are welcome to apply. Candidates can be from any discipline, though a demonstrated interest in the fields of art, public policy, urban planning, history, design, architecture, publishing, material studies, geography, communications, or activism is preferred.

We require interns to either receive course credit from their school for their internship or to have a designated internship funding source. Monument Lab does not provide funding at this time.

Dates
The Summer 2023 Monument Lab internship program will run from Monday, June 12 to Friday, August 18, 2023. Please note that face-to-face Haverford interns are not expected to find alternative Philadelphia-area housing once HCA closes for the summer and will be able to participate virtually after their HCA move-out date.
