

Hayle Meyerhoff

Hayle is a rising Junior who is studying history with a concentration in Peace, Justice, and Human Rights. She grew up in Portland Oregon, and has backpacked, cross-country skied, and hiked all around the Pacific Northwest. She loves sleeping outside in a tent or under the stars, rain or shine. She's led multiple backpacking trips with HavOC, and has loved getting to know the wilderness on the east coast. Hayle likes to play rugby, sing, play ukulele, and get lost in the woods and the city. She is a certified Wilderness First Responder and a goat fanatic who looks forward to exploring the backcountry with a new group of friends!

Brooks Richon

Brooks is a rising Sophomore who grew up near Boston, MA. He took a gap year to explore his interest in politics, and is now taking a wide variety of classes to help him decide what to major in. Brooks has gone on backpacking trips in New Hampshire with the Appalachian Mountain Club in the past, and went on PCOP last year and loved it! He's excited to get to know a new group of PCOPers!

Dex Coen Gilbert

Hello everyone! My name is Dex, I am a rising sophomore, and I am super excited to be co-leading a PCOP trip this year! I'm a hopeful Political Science major at Haverford and will be living in Sophomore House (Apt. 11) next year. I work as a photographer for the communications department and am a contributor for the Haverford centric Didn't Podcast. I've been super fortunate in my life to travel and it made backpacking and wildlife photography two of my biggest passions. I've worked a summer camp and led some backpacking trips with younger kids, so I'm unbelievably happy to get to just hike with some adults!

Ewan Lang

Ewan is a rising sophomore, an avid backpacker, and above all else: a Minnesotan. He is a Wilderness First Responder and is certified in wilderness water safety. Over the past few years, Ewan has partaken in multiple backpack and canoe trips all over the US and Canada, and chooses to spend his summers leading teens on trips with camp Widjiwagan in beautiful Ely, Minnesota. Ewan once carried home 40 lbs. of rocks with him from the Arctic Circle for fun.

Eyasu Shumie

Eyasu is a rising sophomore at Haverford who grew up in Las Vegas hiking in the surrounding deserts and mountains. He led an all People of Color backpacking trip with Havoc to Shenandoah National Park, and hiked in snow for the first time in his life. Eyasu loves the long van rides before trips because of the beautiful scenery that surrounds so many hiking spots, and getting to listen to great music before a long trip. He's interested in Political Science and English, and enjoys playing basketball, writing, and playing on swings.

Bonnie McKelvie

Hi, I'm Bonnie McKelvie, class of 2021, and I am from Washington, D.C. At Haverford, I am a Fine Arts and History major with a concentration in Peace Justice and Human Rights (though I haven't declared yet so who knows!). I work at a tattoo parlor and art gallery in Ardmore, just five minutes from campus, and I participate in different organizations on campus like debate team and figure drawing. Over the summer, I'm interning with Voice of Witness, and NGO based in San Francisco, through Haverford's CPGC (Center for Peace and Global Citizenship). When we're all back in the fall, I'll be a PAF (Peer Awareness Facilitator) for Apartment 38, and working somewhere probably. I love to read, paint, write, and I'm pretty involved with activism on and off campus. I went on PCOP last year and it made transitioning to Haverford so much fun! Can't wait to meet you guys!
