
Program Overview

One Year Program at the Colleges at Oxford University, England. Semester study is not an option. One full year at Oxford equals 8 credits at Haverford. Students who do not complete the year will not receive any credit.

Students apply in two ways:

Partner College: Applications are binding. Students must go through an internal application process and be nominated by the Faculty Advisory Board. Students may apply to only one Partner College at either Oxford or Cambridge.

Oxford Partners:

- St. Peter's College

If nominated, students will receive an application to the Partner College. If a student applies and is accepted, they are required to attend—the application itself is a binding contract. Apply to a Non-Partner College if you are unable to fully commit to attending.

Non-Partner College: Applications are non-binding. Admission is extremely competitive.

Academic Program

Academic Credits

One full year at Oxford equals 8 credits at Haverford. Students who do not complete the year will not receive any credit, no exceptions.

Selection Process

College selection of undergraduates is made by subject tutors who will be responsible for teaching the successful candidates. Because tutors are involved in the selection process, they are familiar with their students before they come in to residence. Thereafter each student has at least one weekly tutorial, either singly or as one of a pair. This ensures that every undergraduate is treated as an individual and is in close contact with at least one member of the teaching staff. In most cases, college tutors and students come to know one another well as people.

Tutorials & Tutors

The emphasis at Oxford is to study a single subject—or a specific combination of subjects—in depth. If you are interested in studying a “minor” subject you must make this clear at the time of application. Mansfield College and St. Edmund’s Hall may permit students to study more than one subject. Mansfield, however, will not accept students for math and sciences.

Once subjects of study are finalized changes cannot be made.

Example: A student accepted to study history cannot study philosophy unless philosophy is indicated as a minor subject prior to acceptance.

Students are looked after by the tutors in the subject they have chosen. Tutors will lead some of your tutorials or arrange tutorials with specialists in other fields as appropriate.

1. Once the request for tutorials has been submitted, changes cannot be made.
2. You may not change your program of study.
3. Additional subjects may not be added.
4. You may not leave early for any reason.

Students will take 1.5 tutorials per term. As a result, at some colleges students will meet every week for their primary tutorial and every other week for their secondary tutorial. If a student has a major and a minor subject, they will generally take a full tutorial in their major subject (i.e., they will read one paper) and take one half tutorial in their minor subject.

Students can only apply for subjects in which they have had prior experience in college. You should ensure that your subject of interest is available for study prior to beginning the application process for a particular college.

The central feature of instruction at Oxford is the tutorial, a weekly meeting of a student with their tutor at which written work is presented and discussed. The individualized nature of these tutorials makes it possible to arrange work appropriate to the particular background and interests of each student.

Oxford students also attend lectures, most often given by world- famous academics. You may attend any lecture offered in the university, which provides an informal, exciting opportunity to learn about disciplines outside of your major.

Examinations

At Oxford “examinations” is a word used to describe the comprehensive examinations, administered at the end of a student’s 3 years, that cover all subjects. One sits for exams to obtain a degree; if the student passes, they receive their diploma; if they do not pass, they do not receive it.

Haverford students cannot sit for degree exams. However, “collections,” end of term tests, are given, usually at the beginning of the following term. All students are required to take all collections set by the tutor. If the university finals are set, the student must take them or the equivalent, i.e. college tests or research papers. Students should bring copies of their papers home for review by their major advisor.

Libraries

- Other excellent universities may have one or two large libraries, Oxford has over 100, making it the largest University library system in the UK. This means it may well be possible for you to complete your degree here without having to buy a single book.
 - Oxford’s Bodleian Libraries house around 13 million items and are second in size in the UK only to the British Library.
 - Oxford graduates often cite the libraries as one of the greatest privileges and pleasures of studying at Oxford and home to some of their best memories.

Application Procedures

Partner Colleges

Internal Application Process for Nomination:

1. Attend the mandatory Information Session on Oxford and Cambridge. Failure to attend will result in being unable to apply to a Partner College.
2. Read the Oxford materials in the Black Binder in Stokes 118D, on the Study Abroad website, and on the specific Oxford college website.
3. Schedule an appointment to discuss your plans with Rebecca Avery before applying to any of these Colleges.
4. After meeting with Rebecca Avery, submit Haverford’s Declaration of Intent to Study Abroad.
5. Complete Haverford’s internal Oxbridge Application by December 4.
6. Obtain two faculty recommendations—these must be in the subject of intended study. Recommendations should be emailed directly to Rebecca Avery by the faculty member.

By December 4, students should submit the following to Rebecca Avery via email:

All documents should be attached to a single email.

1. Unofficial transcript.
2. An essay of approximately 800 words, focusing on the academic reasons for attending Oxford.
3. A sample of your best-written academic work in the area of intended study. This is not always necessary for mathematics and sciences. Consult Rebecca Avery prior to December 4 if you are unsure.

By December 4, students must also deliver 5 copies of these three documents to Rebecca Avery's office in Stokes 118D. Documents should be in a sealed manila envelope.

Nomination & Completing Your Application

The Faculty Advisory Board selects students for nomination. Nomination decisions will be communicated in January after fall semester grades have been recorded..

- An interview may be required.
- Nomination by the Faculty Advisory Board does not guarantee acceptance. Students still need to apply to and be accepted by a Partner College.
- Students will not be nominated until grades from the fall semester are recorded.

If nominated, students will be invited to complete the specific program application for one of the Partner Colleges. At this stage, students can decline nomination and their application will not be forwarded, but once the Faculty Advisory Board writes a letter of nomination, students are bound to attend if accepted.

Students who do not fulfill the contract for any reason cannot assume their return to Haverford will be automatic. Students may be asked to take a leave of absence for the remainder of the year and will be responsible for any unrecoverable fees.

A deposit of $500, payable to Haverford College, is required at the time of application.

Rebecca Avery will prepare the application packet with a letter of nomination from one of the faculty members and forward it to the Partner College in January. Email the Registrar's Office at hc-registrar@haverford.edu and request that an official copy of your transcript with fall grades be forwarded to Rebecca Avery.

The Partner Colleges will make their decisions from mid-February until the end of March. Students must return their letter of acceptance to the College within ten days.

Non-Partner Colleges

Internal Application Process

Apply as soon as possible in the fall preceding year of study. The Colleges fill up quickly and admission is extremely competitive.

1. Attend the mandatory Information Session on Oxford and Cambridge. If you fail to attend you will have to wait until all attendees are seen and helped first.
2. Schedule an appointment to discuss your plans with Rebecca Avery before applying to any of these Colleges.
3. After meeting with Rebecca Avery, submit Haverford's Declaration of Intent to Study Abroad.
4. Complete Haverford's internal Oxbridge Application by December 4.
5. Obtain two faculty recommendations—these must be in the subject of intended study. Recommendations should be emailed directly to Rebecca Avery by the faculty member.

By December 4, students should submit the following to Rebecca Avery via email:

All documents should be attached to a single email.

1. Unofficial transcript.
2. An essay of approximately 800 words, focusing on the academic reasons for attending Oxford.
3. A sample of your best-written academic work in the area of intended study. This is not always necessary for mathematics and sciences. Consult Rebecca Avery prior to December 4 if you are unsure.

By December 4, students must also deliver 5 copies of these three documents to Rebecca Avery's office in Stokes 118D. Documents should be in a sealed manila envelope.

Completing Your Application

The admissions process may take several months.

Follow the procedures as indicated on the application for your particular college. Oxford recommends students send information in one mailing.

- o Place your completed application and all other materials in an unsealed, stamped, manila envelope addressed to the Tutor for Admissions.
- o Submit this application packet to Rebecca Avery two weeks before the deadline so that she can prepare her letter of endorsement.
- o Faculty recommendations should be sent to Rebecca Avery. Do not have the faculty member mail it directly to the Tutor for Admissions.

Applications are sent via registered mail after Rebecca Avery has reviewed the materials.

Note: The information provided should be as complete as possible so that the College can make its decision promptly and in the best interests of the applicant. The Colleges require full details of the applicant's academic career.

It is helpful to know what area(s) within a subject the applicant would hope to study at Oxford, for example, "19th or 20th-century English literature" rather than simply "English." Tutors can provide advice for those who are undecided.

Payment of Fees

Tuition

Students pay tuition to Haverford College, which will then be responsible for paying the program directly.

Room & Board

Room and board fees depend on the particular college. In some programs, students pay Haverford Room fees and partial Board or just room fees.

- o St. Peter's has a comprehensive package that includes tuition, room, and board.
- o St. Edmund's has a partial board fee of 78 dinners.
- o Mansfield and Pembroke charge only room fees and the student is responsible for their own food.

Students may not apply for off-campus independent housing and may not opt to live in apartments with other American students.

Financial Aid

In addition to providing financial aid for Tuition, Haverford will also provide aid for Room and Board for those eligible.

Qualified students receiving Haverford grant funds will receive an airfare allowance if their family income is less than $100,000.

Students studying either for a semester or for a full academic year, if approved by the Faculty Advisory Board, will receive only one airfare allowance credit. The amount will be credited towards the student's Haverford tuition bill.

For more information, visit Financial Aid: Study Abroad FAQs.

Refunds

Tuition will not be refunded if a student should withdraw from the program.

Haverford adheres to the tuition policies of each institution. Even in medical emergencies, if there is no refund forthcoming from the individual college, Haverford cannot issue a refund.

Students might want to consider tuition insurance, which is available through the Haverford Business Office. A fee will be levied for students who withdraw.

The $500 Application Fee will be refunded only to those students not accepted for study.

Partner Colleges: Your application is a binding contract. Your $500 application fee will be credited to your second semester tuition costs if you are accepted.

Travel Information

Arrival in England

For immigration purposes students will need:

- A passport valid at least six months after their anticipated date of return.
- A Tier 4 General Student Visa.
- Proof of acceptance for a recognized course of study; bring your letter of acceptance with you.
- Proof that the costs of stay may be met. A statement from a bank should do.

Passport

All international travel requires a passport, which must be valid for 6 months after a student's intended date of return. Apply early; the process may take several weeks.

Visa

Any student from the U.S. studying in the U.K. for 6 months or longer must get a U.K. Visa before departure.

Haverford students studying abroad in the UK must qualify for a Tier 4 General Student Visa under a Points Based System (PBS).

Visas must be obtained through the nearest British diplomatic post (Embassy, High Commission, or Consulate-General).

Visa procedures and requirements are constantly changing. The visa application process is complicated and can take up to three months. U.S. citizens should not plan to leave the country during the summer following their sophomore year. Since the visa stamp is placed in your passport, you will be required to send your passport to the British consulate.

International students may have to return to their home country to obtain a U.K. Tier 4 Visa. International students and non-U.S. citizens should consult the prospectus, the nearest British consulate, and Denise Allison, Assistant Dean for International Student Support at Haverford.

All students should read the Tier 4 Application Procedures.

ID Card & Insurance

Haverford recommends that students obtain an International Student Identification Card and international health insurance through iNext before leaving the United States.

The International Student Identification Card serves as an acceptable form of identification in most cases, eliminating the necessity of carrying a passport.

iNext provides basic accident, medical, and repatriation insurance for travel outside of the U.S., as well as other benefits.
